Principal fisheries: Brook trout

Sunday Pond is located north of Carry Ridge. An inlet enters the east end of the pond and its outlet flows west into Umbagog Lake. The pond's shoreline is undeveloped.

Water quality in Sunday Pond is good for coldwater gamefish. Spawning and nursery areas are limited, but a native population of brook trout does maintain sufficient numbers for a fishery. Growth is only fair, restricted by competition from the other fish species present. The pond is not stocked.

Sunday Pond is accessible via an old logging road leading west off the Middle Dam Road. It is open to fishing in the open water season with the use of live fish as bait being prohibited and is closed during the winter months. See the lawbook for additional regulations.
